Prize money

Today's champion receives £2,000,000 in prize money, while the runner-up collects £1,050,000. In total, the prize fund for the men's singles at 2022 Wimbledon is £14,496,000.

Djokovic bids for 21st Grand Slam title

Novak Djokovic is bidding to win his 21st Grand Slam title and move ahead of Roger Federer in 2nd place on the all-time list for most Grand Slam men's singles titles – and close the gap on Rafael Nadal at the top of the list. The 'Big 3' (Djokovic, Federer and Nadal) all began the year on 20 Grand Slam titles, but victories for Nadal at the Australian Open and Roland Garros have propelled the Spaniard into the lead. A win for Djokovic today would also see him claim his 7th Wimbledon title and equal William Renshaw and Pete Sampras in 2nd place on the all-time list for most titles here – meaning that only 8-time Wimbledon champion Federer would be ahead of him.

Kyrgios aims to become first Australian man to win a Grand Slam title in 20 years

Two decades have passed since an Australian man last won a Grand Slam title – but Nick Kyrgios will bid to end that title-drought when he contests his first Grand Slam final today. A victory for Kyrgios would see him become the first male Grand Slam champion from Australia since Lleyton Hewitt won the title here in 2002. As world No. 40, he would also become the lowest-ranked and first unseeded Wimbledon men's singles champion since No. 125 Goran Ivanisevic won the title here in 2001. Kyrgios has not won a singles title in nearly 3 years – but he leads the Tour in grass-court match-wins this season, having put in a series of strong performances over the last 5 weeks.

Head-to-head in Kyrgios' favour

Djokovic and Kyrgios have played just 2 matches, both of which came at North American hard court tournaments in a 2-week period in March 2017. Kyrgios emerged the victor on both occasions, in the quarterfinals at Acapulco and in the round of 16 at Indian Wells-1000 – and the Australian did not drop a set in either match. There are just 2 other players against whom Djokovic has played multiple matches but failed to record a victory – Jiri Vesely and Marat Safin who, like Kyrgios, boast a 2-0 head-to-head lead against the 20-time Grand Slam champion.

Wimbledon final appearances

By reaching the final here for the 8th time, Djokovic has claimed sole ownership of 2nd place on the all-time list for most Wimbledon men's singles final appearances, ahead of Boris Becker, Arthur Gore and Pete Sampras.

A 3rd Tour-level meeting for Djokovic and Kyrgios – but their first at a Grand Slam or on grass. Kyrgios has won their 2 previous meetings, which came within a 2-week period in March 2017.

Kyrgios is one of just 3 players against whom Djokovic has played multiple matches but never defeated – alongside Marat Safin and Jiri Vesely, who also have 2-0 win-loss records against Djokovic.

Kyrgios is bidding to defeat a Top 5 player at a Grand Slam for the 3rd time – and for the 2nd time here this year, having defeated No. 5 Stefanos Tsitsipas in the 3rd round. He has a 2-10 win-loss record against Top 5 players at the Grand Slams, with his only other victory coming against No. 1 Nadal in the round of 16 here in 2014. His victory against Tsitsipas ended a 9-match losing streak against Top 5 players at the Grand Slams.

Kyrgios' victory against Tsitsipas here also ended a 7-match losing streak against Top 5 players at Tour-level. He had not previously defeated a Top 5 player at Tour-level since defeating No. 3 Alexander Zverev in the final at 2019 Acapulco. He has a 12-24 win-loss record against Top 5 players at Tour-level overall.

- By reaching the final here, Kyrgios has become the 9th Australian man in the Open Era to reach the Wimbledon final – after Newcombe (3 Wimbledon final appearances in the Open Era), Laver, Patrick Rafter and Rosewall (all 2), and Pat Cash, Hewitt, Philippoussis and Tony Roche (all one). (NB Laver, Newcombe and Rosewall all made pre-Open Era appearances in the final here)
- By reaching his first Grand Slam final, Kyrgios has also become the 15th Australian man in the Open Era to reach a Grand Slam final – and the first since Hewitt finished runner-up at the 2005 Australian Open.
- By reaching his first Wimbledon final on his 8th appearance here, Kyrgios has gone joint-3rd on the Open Era list for most attempts before reaching a first Wimbledon men's singles final, alongside Rafter. Cilic (11 attempts before his first Wimbledon final) and Kevin Anderson (10) are the only men in the Open Era to have taken more attempts to reach their first Wimbledon finals than Kyrgios.
- By reaching his first Grand Slam final on his 30th Grand Slam appearance, Kyrgios has gone 5th on the Open Era list for most attempts before reaching a first Grand Slam final – behind David Ferrer (42 attempts before his first Grand Slam final), Stan Wawrinka (36), Anderson (34) and Kim Warwick (32).
- By reaching the final here, Kyrgios has recorded his best Grand Slam result. His previous best Grand Slam result was reaching the quarterfinals on 2 occasions – at 2014 Wimbledon (l. Milos Raonic) and the 2015 Australian Open (l. Murray).
- In Grand Slam play this year, Kyrgios reached the 2nd round at the Australian Open (d. Liam Broady, l. Daniil Medvedev) but did not compete at Roland Garros.
- Prior to Wimbledon, Kyrgios reached the semifinals at Stuttgart (l. Murray) and as a wild card at Halle (l. Hubert Hurkacz). He also reached the 2nd round at Mallorca, where he defeated Laslo Djere in the 1st round before giving a walkover to Roberto Bautista Agut due to an abdominal injury.
- Kyrgios' other highlights in 2022 are reaching the semifinals as a wild card at Houston (l. Reilly Opelka), the quarterfinals as a wild card at Indian Wells-1000 (l. Nadal) and the round of 16 as a wild card at Miami-1000 (l. Jannik Sinner). He missed the remainder of the clay court season after his semifinal finish at Houston in April, returning to action at Stuttgart last month. He is contesting his 8th tournament of the season here.
- Kyrgios has won all 6 five-set matches he has contested at Wimbledon – including his 5-set victories against Paul Jubb and Brandon Nakashima here this year. He has an 11-3 win-loss record in 5-set matches at Tour-level overall.
- Kyrgios is bidding to win his 7th Tour-level singles title – and his first since he won the title at 2019 Washington (d. Medvedev). All 6 of his titles have come on hard courts.
- Kyrgios reached a career-high ranking of No. 13 in October 2016. He re-entered the Top 50 following his semifinal finish at Halle last month and plays here at No. 40 – his highest-ranking since August 2020.

- Kyrgios won the 2022 Australian Open men's doubles title as a wild card team alongside Thanasi Kokkinakis, with the pair defeating fellow Australians Matthew Ebden/Max Purcell in the final. They became the first all-Australian team to win a Grand Slam men's doubles title since Todd Woodbridge/Mark Woodforde at 2000 Wimbledon and the first wild card team in history to win the Australian Open men's doubles title.
- Kyrgios is a 2-time Wimbledon junior doubles champion, winning the title in both 2012 (with Andrew Harris) and 2013 (with Kokkinakis). His best performance in the boys' singles here was reaching the quarterfinals in 2012 (l. Gianluigi Quinzi). He also won the 2012 Roland Garros boys' doubles title (with Harris) and the 2013 Australian Open boys' singles title (d. Kokkinakis) and reached the junior No. 1 ranking in January 2013.
- Kyrgios has played Davis Cup for Australia since 2013 and has an 11-6 win-loss record in the competition. Australia will compete in Hamburg alongside France, Germany and Belgium in Group C at the 2022 Davis Cup Finals.
- Kyrgios is currently without a permanent coach.
